

1) General info

Goof Queen - roguelike dungeon-crawler game with ASCII graphics. Game rating is 18+. The main audience for the game are dungeon-crawler fans and people who like street graffiti hip-hop themes.

Goof - Any writer who is extremely careless to get themselves caught and arrested, especially with observant citizens and even the police watching the writer in the act.

Queen - Graffitiists of the highest accomplishments.

2) Concept

A game about a goof girl who likes bombing graffiti. She's doing small stuff like tags and grafs but at one point decides to go big and do burners. She gains a blessing from the God of graffiti and gets her first sneakers. Sometimes she gets in trouble and has to run away from cops. But in the end she gains so much respect and admiration from people and other graffiti artists that she's given a choice: to become the Queen of streets or to become a legal artist for the city.

3) Key features

- Cool and sometimes abstract story
- Bomb graffiti. Make art.
- Could run even on your granny PC.

4) Game loop

4.1) Investigation

Players investigate map segments that mean to represent different locations like: streets, abandoned buildings, etc.

4.2) Fight

Sometimes the player runs into cops and they have to run. They will have to type in the right direction where to run that matches on-screen one. If typed correctly, the distance between player and cop gets bigger. When it gets to 100 meters the fight ends.

4.3) Bombing // looting

In some locations there will be spots for graffiti. Players can bomb a graf to receive experience. They have to write the correct sequence of letters representing arrows to bomb art. If done correctly the player gains respect. When a player gets a level-up they get new boots from the graffiti god.

4.4) Exiting segment

When everything is looted and every graffiti is bombed the player can go to different locations. The player cannot return.

5) End of the game

Become Queen of the streets. The protagonist gained so much respect among other artists that she became a living legend - the Queen herself. She continues to bomb beautiful burners and grafs all over the city.

Become a legal graffiti artist. The protagonist has been recognised by authorities. She becomes an official graffiti artist for the city. Her murals are everywhere now.

6) My vision

This game for me is a way to speak out my cool story that I came up with. Personally I love graffiti and street culture so much that I want to share it with people. I hope somebody will love my abstract story and vision.
